BUSINESS PLAN

Today a major portion of the world's economy is put in health services all over the world.

Despite this, heart problems, cancers, arthritis, asthma etc. diseases and other health problems are prevalent at a very large scale.

America is spending 2.5 times the Indian GDP i.e. $ 2.51 trillion per annum only on health services, which is an extremely huge amount.

What actually the reasons behind these contradictory facts are:

1. English medicines for any given disease/problem either reduces the symptoms for a small period of time or cures the disease for the time being. But these affect the natural processes to such a great that other problems build their nests in the body.
2. Extensive uses of antibiotics have shown such negative effects on the natural processes that bone marrow, diabetes, kidneys & stomach get severely damaged.
3. Modern lifestyle is becoming so negative that tension is spread even amongst children.

Keeping these in mind, a holistic health center is proposed where a person with the help of 50 different alternative health measures would be able to benefit his health. There are numerous such natural substances and therapies which when put to use would prove very beneficial in matters of health.

4. Since last 100 years, many scientists have invented numerous such machines which if put to use can give a variety of benefits, but due to the opposition by allopathic lobby, their usage is restricted. In India, people are not even aware of their names. To fill this void, this center would choose and purchase 200 best machines of world's alternate health and provide their treatment to public.

World's First Quantum Health Care Centre

World's first health care center would be established where using 50 different pathies any disease would be treated in the best possible way.

Royal Raymond Rife (1888-1971), another bioelectric pioneer and contemporary of Lakhovsky, put it eloquently when he said, "we also believe if the metabolism of the human body is perfectly balanced or poised, it is susceptible to no disease." Dr. Rife's work confirmed that everything in the universe, living or dead, has its own resonant frequency (special vibration).

Lakhovsky, in an effort to raise the vibration level of deficiently vibrating cells, created a device known as a "multi wave oscillator". This device sent out a wide spectrum of frequencies, allowing deficiently vibrating cells to resonate with their particular energizing frequency - restoring them to health or normal vibration levels.

"... The cells with very weak vibrations, when placed in the field of multiple vibrations, finds its own frequency and starts again to oscillate normally through the phenomenon of resonance.

... The main thing is to produce the greatest number of harmonics possible."

Lakhovsky conducted an experiment with plants in 1924 to establish the validity of his theory. He inoculated ten potted geranium plants with a plant disease that causes cancerous tumors. While nine inoculated geraniums quickly succumbed to the cancerous disease, the one geranium, allowed be energizing by his oscillating device, sloughing off the cancerous growth and thriving into a robust and healthy plant. Lakhovsky had similar success when his devices were used with people and animals. Not only was his unit able to restore sick people to health, but also, those who used it regularly, noticed that they rarely became ill.

Thus, Dr. Lakhovsky demonstrated that a cell's vibration rate can be raised through resonance with a similar frequency from an external energy source. His work confirmed that the body has sufficient resources to fight off any disease or imbalance if its cells are vibrating at their correct resonant frequency. What an elegant, non-invasive, simple approach to wellness! Regardless of the type of illness or disease, the body is built to thrive and to naturally protect itself when it is vibrating at its designed frequency. The implications of this truth are profound. Any disease or imbalance that can be contemplated or experienced, the body, when in perfect vibratory state, can successfully overcome.
